

October 2007

Okay ... I'm back from the Flat-Line Club with nothing to report, no bright lights, no flames and no Elvis ... maybe it was just a layover in Purgatory ... the afterlife's Bus Station.

Would you rather go to Las Vegas with Suge Knight or O.J. Simpson?

I heard that Willie Parker of the Steelers had his Super Bowl ring made in his dad's ring size and gave it to his father. I don't know ... pretty cool ... on both ends.

I was up late the other night and turned on the TV and 'Bachelor Party' was on ... that bad 80's movie with Tom Hanks, Tawny Kitaen, and Adrian Zmed. Boy, you can hardly bring up Hanks name these days without mentioning the brilliance of the other two.

Everson Walls, the old Dallas Cowboys corner, donated a kidney to Ron Springs, and former Dallas RB and former teammate of Walls. I don't know why this one hit me ... maybe cuz I grew up watching these guys or maybe just the bond of teammates, but I thought it was worth mentioning.

If you hear a car alarm go off ... do you think a car is being stolen?

I used to do a thing: 'Black Guy In a White Guy Jersey' now I'm starting another one: 'Weird Advertising Spots'

Here are a couple that I have seen being sold for advertising space: stickers on fruit, the freakin' painted lines in a parking lot have ads on them now ... and then this one the other day: I was at the gas station and the freakin' squeegee handle had ad space on it. Wow ... what a world. Pretty soon boxers will sell ad space on their bodies ... oh wait ...

Michael ConVick ... where do I start? Maybe I wont ... there is just too much there. But I will share this ... the most disturbing (to me) was the tales of the 12 beagles seized at the 'Dog Fight House' ... why beagles? They don't fight. No, they are used to see which pit-bulls are the best killers. What the fuck? Fuck Michael Vick and anyone associated with that kind of thing. They'll pay for that in Hell.

Speaking of Michael Vick ... think the Falcons regret that Matt Schaub trade?

Then we get this NBA ref ... who was in conspiracy with gamblers and bet on games he was officiating. I'm sure that motherfucker was doing Game 6 of the Kings/Lakers series back in '02. Cuz then it would all make sense.

Craig Biggio gets his 3,000 hit and he gets thrown out trying to stretch it into a double. There is so much 'right' about this and about the way this guy has played the game.

Lindsay Lohan ... hmmm. Well, hmmm. No, not today. But speaking of lame, Hollywood Party Girls ... anyone check out that picture of Paris Hilton bawling in the back of the police car. Again, there is just so much that is 'right' about that.

How can hookers be illegal, yet porn IS legal?

Somewhere along the line, Billy Walsh, surpassed Ari and Drama as my favorite character on Entourage.

- Until Next Time - SEM

Copyright © 2002-2008 Dead Legend Enterprises