

The Soap Box (vol.22)

May 2003

I gotta lot of love for Tony Blair.

There is no one that detests Kobe Bryant more than I do, but the kid plays the game the right way and brings it every night.

There's nothing like pumping $20 worth of gas and getting almost 8 gallons.

DeShawn Stephenson gets the 'George Teague' award for laying the hard foul on Ricky Davis after Davis tries to shoot at his own goal to get his 10th rebound and a triple-double. Ricky Davis, a lot of talent, too bad he has no class. It's bad when a kid straight out of high school like DeShawn respects the game more than a guy who's been around a bit.

Got three words for you: Girls Gone Wild.

I know what everyone is getting for Christmas this year.

When a casino starts calling you at home to let you know what kind of game is going on that night, does that mean you have a gambling problem? . . . nah.

Geez, I caught a little of that new show on MTV called Fraternity Life, I guess the follow up to that lame show Sorority Girls or whatever the fuck it was called.

So I'm watching this and I'm thinking what a bunch of lame, spoiled dicks. I fuckin' hate Frat-boys. I realize why someone like me would never work in a situation like that, cuz the whole time I'm thinking, "someone should punch that guy in the face."

Queers.

Until Next Time . . .
