

The Soap Box (7/31/02)

I caught Class on cable the other day. You know that Rob Lowe/Andrew McCarthy movie where Andrew McCarthy sleeps with Rob Lowe's mom who is played by Jacqueline Bisset.

And the whole time I'm thinking . . . how did Andrew McCarthy ever get a job? I mean that guy had a pretty good run in the early 80's, but if you watch him, he was the biggest, no talent pussy ever to hit the big screen. He makes Emilio Estevez look like Robert DeNiro.

I read the review of the new Mighty, Mighty Bosstones CD in Maxim. They kind of ripped them for being too stubborn to leave their Punk/Ska roots. So I guess you just can't fuckin' win, right? I mean if the Bosstones come out with a lame 'radio' hit album, their true fans would curse their name. But they get blasted for putting out the same kind of music that made them what they are. Kind of a double edge sword I guess.

But I'll take the same angry ass Bosstones, rather than have them turn into Everclear. Hey Art . . . 'Everything is wonderful now' . . . yeah, now that you got off the dope, sold out, made a million dollars and forgot your punk roots . . . I hope Dicky Barrett gives you a beating.

I gotta send love to El Duque. I watched the Yankees and Blue Jays get into a good old fashioned bean ball war a few weeks ago.

Duque waits for the Jays best player to come up, Carlos Delgado, and wizzes one by his head. Then Duque and Delgado start yelling at each other in Spanish. Duque gets a warning from the ump and calm is restored . . . well the very next pitch, Duque nails him square in the ribs.

Old school stuff. You gotta love a guy like that.

Which brings up Shawn Estes. When the Mets finally got a shot at Clemens and the Yanks, where Clemens had to bat, everyone in the stadium knew Clemens was going to get knocked on his ass, including Clemens. (retaliation for Clemens hitting Piazza in the head)

So Estes throws a change up behind Clemens and you could almost feel Roger want to burst into laughter.

Nice message Shawn . . . you know what message that sent?

You just told all your teammates that you are a big pussy.

C-SPAN could have bare naked titties on it and I wouldn't watch it, but the other day I'm flipping thru the channels and this guy is on there:

So I sat there and watched it for about an hour. Mesmerized. I mean this guy had the worst hair in a world full of bad hair. I mean who let him out of the house. This is an elected official for Christ sakes!

I didn't even hear a word he said, for an hour . . . nothing.

Gotta love it.

I heard later he was convicted on fraud charges.

Is this a great country or what?

Until next time.

-SEM

Soap Box
