The Soap Box (8/27/02)

Is there a more sucker job on TV today than 'Sorority Life' on MTV? I tune it in expecting to see young college girls playfully squirting each other with a hose while having some sort of fund raising car wash. What do we get? A bunch of ugly, whiny girls trying desperately to get in this stick-up-their ass sorority. What ever happened to the good ol' days? I mean if this was the 80's, and something was called 'Sorority Life', we'd have bare naked titties within the first 5 minutes, a wet t-shirt contest in the first 10, and a soft core sex scene withing the first 20. Remember classic 80's films like Spring Break, H.O.T.S. and Hot Dog the Movie? That was good stuff . . . Sorority Life my ass. Sororities and Fraternities represent all that is evil in the world. It's bad enough that shit exists, but now it's fed right into your living room.

I was driving in Sac the other day and saw this huge black guy walking down the street wearing a Tim Dwight Falcons jersey, and then later the same day as I was driving home I saw this gimpy, little white guy wearing a Kordell Stewart Steelers jersey. What does this all mean? Probably nothing, but I was reminded of the 'Black and White Cookie' episode of Seinfeld and maybe we are closer to racial harmony than I think we are.

Look to the cookie . . .

Everytime I watch that damn Rudy, I end up crying like a baby. Gets me everytime.

Anna Nicole Smith? You know it's bad when you wouldn't fuck a former Playboy Playmate.

I like Jack Black, but he is real close to being over-exposed.

I read there was going to be a sequel to Dude, Where's My Car? . . . what the fuck? And our movie can't get any bites. Hollywood blows.

I actually saw a guy driving a Pinto the other day. Well, I was driving, he was in a parking lot putting oil in it or tinkering with the engine, but still, it was a Pinto. Good for him.

Nicolas Cage married Lisa Marie Presley. Wow, the Kings daughter. Some people think that's weird, but I am so down with Lisa Marie. I mean it's the fucking KINGS DAUGHTER! That's like marrying into American Royalty. I read somewhere that Elvis Presley led the list of 'dead' people with incomes for the past year, he made 37 million dollars. His sole heir: Lisa Marie. That means she made 37 mil just by her birthright. That's beautiful.

Is Priscilla married?

Mike Bibby wanted 100 mil to re-sign with the Kings, he settles for 80 mil. But he was this close to signing that 1 year, 6 million dollar deal because he didn't feel like he was getting what he was worth.

As Kings fans lets all take a moment to thank Mike for swallowing his pride and taking one for the team. (real thick sarcasm)

Speaking of the Sac Kings, I'm not sure there is a better GM in sports (all due respect to Billy Beane) than Geoff Petrie or better owners than Joe and Gavin Maloof. Keon Clark, thank you.

Speaking of the Maloofs, they are single, multi-millionaires, own a NBA team and a new Vegas Casino, so how come we never see them with chicks? Either that's really cool or really fishy, but that's for another column.

From the funny shit I saw on the internet:
I was at MSN.com the other day and they had this link: Test your Shakira IQ.

What the fuck? Shakira IQ? Has Shakira been around long enough and do people really give enough of a shit about Shakira to actually have a Shakira IQ?

I got 9 out of 10.

Until next time.
