

November 2009

Okay ... before I give thanks ... there are a few things I am not thankful for, or basically shit that is bothering me ...

Common courtesy.

What the fuck? Where has it gone?

As a society are we in such a fucking hurry that we are oblivious to anything outside of our own little feeble world?

Okay, what happened to the 'courtesy wave'?

Hey, I do my part ... everyone let's one car in. That's the deal ... you signal, I let you in. We all do our part. I don't ask for much ... just put your fucking hand up and acknowledge the fact that I just helped you out.

Is it that hard? ... a hand in the air, to say, 'Hey, thanks for letting me in.'

It's not a big deal, but I feel fucking bitter when my efforts to keep society running smoothly are not rewarded by a god damn hand up.

Also, this seems to be running rampant: 'Line Etiquette'

You know ... you are at the supermarket and there is one line open ... and the line is about 8 deep and a second checker comes up and says 'I can help the next person in line', and some motherfucker behind you jets over there to that line.

I always yell at that guy ... whether it's me next or not ... I always yell 'hey, you weren't next!'

Just to make sure he knows that he is a inconsiderate, self-centered fuck and the whole store knows that he took someone else's spot.

The other day this happened, I was third in line, the lady ahead of me ... heavy set, with 2 kids ... was next and someone opened another register and asked for the next in line and these jackasses behind me jammed over there.

I looked at the lady and said, 'you were next' ... she just said, 'what can I do about it?' (which I blame on the store employee, they should police it) but I told the lady, that I would say something to them, but she thanked me and said not to bother.

I hate that shit.

Another one ... I was in the express line at Safeway ... 15 items or less ... no problem ... well the fucking lady in front of me has 21 items.

How do I know? ... cuz I was in line so fucking long that I counted. THE EXPRESS LINE!

So I say ... 'What's up 21 items!?'

She realizes I am talking to her ... and she says, 'well I let that man go ahead of me'

I am thinking, IT'S THE FUCKING EXPRESS LINE, THE FACT THAT YOU LET SOMEONE GO AHEAD OF YOU, SHOULD GIVE YOU A FUCKING CLUE THAT YOU HAVE TOO MUCH SHIT FOR THIS LINE!!!

So she and her dirt bag kids just gave me a shitty look ... and me and the 7 people in line behind me were left to just be irritated and pissed because this bitch can't follow societies little rules!!!

SOCIETY HAS FUCKING RULES!!!

God Damn!

Also this one ... I was at a restaurant with my girlfriend and we were waiting ... a guy walks in after us ... the hostess comes over and asks who's next ... this motherfucker steps up and says he is and gets seated.

I fucking boiled ... I yelled at him ... 'you weren't next ... you have our table ... yeah, you ... you know what you did' ...

I kept going, just so he knew that I knew what he did ... and to call him out in front of other people ...

The only reason I didn't go sit down at the table with him was cuz my girlfriend talked me out of it.

She has seen that side of me ... it's not pretty.

I feel like any small injustice to me or mankind must be met with absolute aggressive sarcasm ... it's a wonder why I got punched in the face so much.

Dicks.

Here is another thing that has been bugging the shit out of me ...

Portion sizes.

This country has an obesity epidemic and with people's sedentary lifestyles coupled with the fact that restaurants serve you waaaay toooo much food.

Enough already.

YOU DON'T NEED THAT MUCH FOOD!

These fucking sandwiches that you get where you can't even get your mouth around it.

Why?

All you can eat? Hometown Buffet? Super-Size?

Watch that movie Super-Size Me and look at what McDonalds used to call a large drink and a large french fries ... those are now their smalls.

My buddy talks in almost reverent terms about food that is described as 'bigger than your head'.

He'll say, 'they had this burrito that was 'bigger than your head'.

Great.

You want to know why diets are so popular? Diet books, workout tapes, gym memberships ...

Cuz people eat too fucking much!

And today, I am blaming the restaurants. This country wastes more food than most countries have to eat ... because restaurants slop that shit out there for the pigs of America ...

Enough.

OK, some quick hitters ...

It bothers me that we live in a world where Nicole Richie is more famous than Lionel Richie.

It bothers me when 'fast cars' like Porches or Corvettes are being driven in the slow lane. What's the point?

It bothers me that Pluto is no longer considered a planet.

It bothers me that phone keypads are different than calculator keypads.

I am bothered by people's 'ring back tones' ... I like the comfort of knowing the phone is ringing instead of having to listen to your chosen song being force fed to me every time I fucking call you.

I am bothered that college football teams get bowl bids with 6-6 records ... and they accept them! Anyone else enjoy the celebration of mediocrity?

I am bothered that you are charged for an extra sauce at McDonalds. Not that I want one, it's just the point that I would have to pay a quarter if I wanted some extra barbeque sauce. So I just take a shit load of ketchup and napkins, just to make my meager little point.

I am bothered by airlines charging you for having baggage.

I am bothered by people who refer to Thanksgiving as 'Turkey Day'.

I am bothered by people who refer to Target as 'Tarjee'. Yeah, we get it ... it was funny when I heard it in 1991.

I am bothered by the fact that Ben Affleck has an Oscar.

and I am bothered that the Florida Marlins have 2 World Series Championships and teams like the Cleveland Indians, Chicago Cubs and the San Francisco Giants have a combined 0 in my lifetime.

Okay, but it is the season to give thanks ... here is my top 5 things that I am thankful for here in the United States of America, November, 2009:

5. The SLOW Foreclosure Process

4. Seth MacFarlane

3. (tie) Tyreke Evans, Miles Austin

2. TiVo

and

NUMBER ONE ...

Panda Express Orange Chicken.
