

September 2009

HALOS IN HELL this month, by AP

We live in a very scary world. Day by day it seems to freak me out even more. Most of us are going on each day minding our own business, getting up, getting the kids ready for school, going to work, coming home and doing our usual routine...in our 'safe' little world. We bitch about all the laundry we have, or not having enough time in the day to ourselves, the DVR isn't working right and the mortgage that's due. With the recent news events going on, I was thinking today, what kind of fucking world are my kids going to grow up in? A missing girl is found in some douchbags back yard, (FUCKING BACK YARD), not hiding in some secluded place, off the radar. Nope, in a back yard, surrounded by a wood fence and neighbors....for 18 fucking years people! The man who kidnapped her was out in public on a daily basis. Making copies or some fucking bullshit, ranting on about his fucked up version of God, passing out PAMPHLETS at a college? ! Really? Not to mention this man was on lifetime parole for raping a female and served 10 of his 50 year sentence. 10 of 50 years. Who the fuck thought that was a good idea? One of my points is this man was shopping in grocery stores, getting coffee at the same restaurant that I could easily have been in. I don't know about you, but something is seriously fucking wrong with that. I'm all for redemption, or 'finding yourself' and turning your life around, I really am. One of my favorite people in this world is a standing example of that. But I don't give a shit what you think, these people who are child molesters, rapists, and pedophiles will never change. It's almost like a dog that gets rabies... they get all rabid and are never the same again.... so let's quarantine the dog for 10 years and when he looks good, let's let em back in the cage with tiny chihuahuas, and little kitty's. Fuck that. Now he and his 'fragile' wife are being kept away from the general population in fear that someone might hurt them. You gotta be fucking kidding me. Your using MY tax dollars to keep this mother fucker safe? Since when was prison supposed to be safe? Doesn't that defeat the purpose? Someone please explain the logic behind that. This poor girl and her children are never going to lead a normal life. They were all robbed of their childhood, proms, driving tests, first boyfriends, graduation.... everything. And this mother fucker and his wife are being held in seclusion for their safety. It doesn't get much worse than that. I will gladly donate .94 for their execution.

"California state and local officials, already reeling from budget cuts and public-safety layoffs, are struggling with a federal order to release about 40,000 inmates to reduce prison overcrowding and bracing for the impact on their communities. The decision by a federal judicial panel ordered California to reduce its prison population by more than 40,000 inmates from a total of about 160,000 over the next two years, to relieve overcrowding and improve medical care for inmates." - The Wall Street Journal

Really? Improve their Medical care? I don't give a FUCK about their medical care. I care about the families that were destroyed and future families at risk which is why a majority of them are in prison right? Last I checked you don't go to prison for helping a elderly woman cross the fuckin' street, or stealing a candy bar for your friend. And you're going to put them back out? Oh wait, let me guess on 'Parole'? Yeah, because that system works FUCKING great!

Reading the headlines yesterday and today I see a little boy in Oakland who is missing. A 24 year old Yale Student is killed while at work. In her building with up to 72 security cameras. A baby is found dead in the Delta, less than a month old. Playgrounds are being set on fire. People are being attacked and robbed in their driveways in Natomas.....

My God... what kind of world are we living in? It terrifies me every single day sending my child to school. I watched Columbine, Virginia Tech and the countless other horrible school shootings. Kids are getting snatched in broad daylight, on playgrounds, in front of their homes or walking around the block. It's horrifying. As a parent I cannot imagine. I'm not one of those people who organize rallies or march on the Capitol steps in support of something. But isn't this important enough? Where do you start? We need a complete moral, judicial, political overhaul..... problem is, I don't even know if that would help.

www.felonspy.com
www.familywatchdog.us
www.meganslaw.ca.gov

If you haven't checked the above websites and think I'm a little over concerned.... have a go. You won't be hearing me say I told you so. But I did.

We live in a scary world. Every year is more terrifying than the year before. I hear my Parents talk about walking home from school (12-13 blocks) by themselves and NOBODY thought that was odd. That was 35 years ago. A lot has changed. I remember walking home from school, 15 years ago. A lot has changed. What is it going to be like in 10 years? I already live in fear. I live my life enjoying each day to the fullest and I try to appreciate every single moment with my loved ones... but I get caught up in my own selfishness at times and bitch about the laundry and what not. When I stop..... when I truly think of this world that I'm raising my children in, it scares the living shit out of me. If they sold bubbles for kids, I would be first in line. I'm the mother that walks my 2nd grader to class every single day, and picks her up every single day. She isn't allowed sleepovers, or to walk anywhere... shit, I don't even let her in the front yard! Am I being overprotective? Are you going to tell me that when someone drives by and snatches her in the 10 seconds I'm looking the other way? When you hear all the family's on TV say "I only looked away for 5 seconds"..... That will not be me.

Ever seen the movie Taken? If you have kids, watch it.

It is my job as a parent to keep my children safe. Whatever lengths I have to go to, I will. They can hate me until they are 18 for not allowing them to sleep at other peoples houses (because I can throw a pretty awesome sleepover, complete with ice cream sundae's), my husband disagrees. I tell him and them, Sorry. I will not budge. It is not up for discussion. That is one thing I will not compromise on.

Believe me, I wish my children could ride their bikes in the street with other kids, or play basketball at a neighbors house, even walk to the park and play football. No fucking way. Many of you might say that I'm too protective, I'm not letting my children experience 'life'. Life these days is VERY different than when you were a kid. If experiencing life is putting my children in danger, or having some child molester snatch them on their way to the park then you're correct. I am too protective, and I'm ok with that. 9 out of 10 missing children do not come home..... Those odds are not ones I'm willing to bet on.

My Children are my world. Their safety is my main concern..... I can only keep them safe as long as they let me, I'm hoping 30ish.... but 18 is as far as I think I will get..... What happens after that? They go into this world with the morals and values we have instilled in them. Knowing right from wrong. Being positive and productive members of society..... It's not them I'm worried about, it's all the fucked up people who they will come in contact with along the way that scares me.

And this is the world we have created for them?

..... Crushing.

I guess what my main point being the fact that as the Sinacle says "Society is crumbling"and it couldn't be more correct. So what do we do? Just go on living each day hoping and praying that your family is safe, that this doesn't happen to you or someone you know? ....

.....Somehow that just doesn't seem enough.

-AP